

JOURNAL PRIZES FOR CYCLISTS.

These Young Men and Women Won Individual Honors in the Big Night Pageant.

THE following is the list of awards to individual riders made by the judges in the Journal's illuminated bicycle parade of last Saturday night:

Prize for best decorated wheel (gentleman's), a gold watch, with split second, chain, charm and pencil; awarded to Mr. John B. Yates.

Prize for best decorated wheel (lady's), a gold chain purse, amethysts and diamonds; awarded to Miss Ecklund.

Prize for best decorated combination tandem, enamelled Lemaire opera glasses for the lady, and jade and gold sleeve links for the gentleman; awarded to Mr. Trotter and companion.

First prize for most grotesque costume, inkstand, silver and cut glass; awarded to A. Ranger and companion.

Second prize for most grotesque costume, cracker jar, silver and cut glass; awarded to Mr. Campbell.

First prize for best illuminated wheel (lady's), a gold enamelled watch and pearl mounted chate-laine; awarded to Miss Flood.

Second prize for best illuminated wheel (lady's), a gold mounted ostrich skin purse; awarded to Mrs. Mohrmann.

Third prize for best illuminated wheel (lady's), a seal, amethyst, lady rider; awarded to Miss Sadie Bodouin.

Special prize for illuminated group of wheels; awarded to Mr. A. E. Bryan.

Special prize for best float on bicycle, model of cruiser New York; awarded to Mr. George C. Parrot, of Newport, R. I.

Special prize awarded to Calumet Bicycle Club.

Three special prizes awarded to children—first to Miss Leah Truitt, second to Miss Rosa Marston, third to Master See.

The Journal asks all the prize winners to send their correct addresses to the managers of the bicycle parade, care of this office.

The judges also wish to make honorable mention of the following:

THE ZOLUS

SPECIAL PRIZE

MISS BONEY, QUEEN OF NIGHT IN THE JOURNAL'S CYCLE PARADE.

The award of the judges, giving first prize to Miss Boney, was presaged by the cheers that greeted the young woman from the crowds that witnessed the brilliant fete on Saturday night. Her wheel bore a huge luminous crescent, glowing brilliantly in its environment of star-like lanterns. The wheel was so draped and lighted that it showed forth conspicuously, even in its brilliant surroundings. An owl, with blazing eyes, was perched on the handle-bar, while just below a strong lantern flashed its beams far ahead.

Prize for best decorated diamond frame tandem, awarded to William Rozet and companion.

First prize for lady dressed as Queen of Night, gold and amethyst belt; awarded to Miss Mannheimer.

Third prize for lady dressed as Queen of Night, chate-laine, lizard skin, silver mounted; awarded to Mrs. Jenson.

Special prize for lady dressed as Queen of Night, awarded to Miss Millie Meyer.

First prize for best fancy costume (gentleman's), toilet set in solid silver, twenty pieces; awarded to Mr. P. MacGregor.

Second prize for best fancy costume (gentleman's), a gold mounted umbrella; awarded to Mr. Joseph Lewis.

First prize for best fancy costume (lady's), a travelling bag, furnished with solid silver, eighteen pieces; awarded to Miss Place.

Second prize for best fancy costume (lady's), a gold vinaigrette, amethysts and diamonds; awarded to Miss Berio.

gold and ivory; awarded to Miss Whitnev.

Fourth prize for best illuminated wheel (lady's), a gold penknife, enamelled with forget-me-nots; awarded to Miss Wood.

Fifth prize for best illuminated wheel (lady's), a silver vinaigrette; awarded to Mrs. Allis.

First prize for best illuminated wheel (gentleman's), a diamond horseshoe scarfpin; awarded to Mr. A. Warendorf.

Second prize for best illuminated wheel (gentleman's), amethyst car-buncleon sleeve links; awarded to Captain J. S. Walters.

Third prize for best illuminated wheel (gentleman's), a gold mounted pocketbook; awarded to C. E. Lockrey.

Fourth prize for best illuminated wheel (gentleman's), seal, gold, jade and ivory; awarded to Mr. A. Warendorf.

Fifth prize for best illuminated wheel (gentleman's), a silver watch with bicycle decorations; awarded to H. H. Blanchard.

Sixth prize for best illuminated wheel (gentleman's), a silver cigarette case; awarded to Mr. Hobart Mason.

Special prize for most graceful

Dr. Foshelm and Mr. Maurice Aaron, both dressed to represent Li Hung Chang.

The float of the Harlem Wheelmen, The Society for Aid to Injured Bicyclers.

The sextuplet of the Yellow Fellow Club.

The winner of the second prize for the best fancy costume worn by any gentleman in the parade, Joseph Lewis, of No. 289 East Eleventh street, is twenty-two years old and is connected with the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company, of No. 54 William street.

His wheel was decorated in a manner that gave it the appearance of a well-rigged brig, with lanterns hanging from the rigging, and himself, in sailor suit, astride the ship. The wheel was entirely covered with white and blue bunting and his suit was of white, with broad blue trimmings. He executed the design himself in two days' time.

Mr. Lewis is a member of the Empire Cycle Club, of No. 321 West Fourth street, and is an enthusiastic cyclist. He won first prize at the opening of the cycle path on Manhattan Beach.

Arrangements are now being made for the presentation of all these prizes, and the time and place selected will be announced in the Journal to-morrow.

Our only daughter had a severe Cough. We thought she was going into consumption. We gave her Jayne's Expectorant, and in a very little time she fully recovered.—A. H. Massey, Shelderville, Minn., Nov. 8, 1895.

The best Family Pill—Jayne's Painless Sanative.—Adv.

SECOND PRIZE FOR MOST GROTESQUE COSTUME

FATHER KNICKERBOCKER AND THE BEAR

MISS PLACE

FIRST PRIZE FOR BEST FANCY COSTUME LADY'S

FIRST PRIZE FOR FANCY DRESS COSTUME

P. MACGREGOR AS ROY ROY